Civic Improvement
With Assistance of SIU

TAMMS, Ill. (IP)—The village of Tamms in Alexander County has become the 16th and smallest community to undertake a full-scale civic improvement program with the help of Southern Illinois University's department of community development.

The village, with a population of 650, has cited housing, health and sanitation deficiencies and the lack of industrial payrolls as its main problems.

Edison's original bulb burned out after 40 hours; average life of the modern fluorescent lamp is 7,500 hours.

Saline County Garden Club
Meets With Mrs. Ed Gaskins

The Saline County Garden club met in the home of Mrs. Ed Gaskins Tuesday. Mrs. LeRoy Reese presided at the meeting and Mrs. Myrtle Myers read the minutes of the previous meeting. Roll call was answered with, "Now is the Time To—" There were 28 members and one guest present.

Mrs. Gaskins' home was attractively decorated with Golden Bell juncos and japonica.

Mrs. Harry Dorris gave the topic and spoke of the mimosa tree, a southern tree, which does well in this community. She described it as a handsome tree, 30 to 40 feet tall, and recommended the Rosea variety as harder and more adapted to Illinois. She said that the tree would be beautiful, even without its bloom and was chosen by George H. Marshall of Kansas for the flowering tree in his garden because the flowers last longer and the leaves do not make as much litter as some other varieties. She further stated that the blooming period is late May or early June and lasts into August. The tree remains dormant until spring is far enough advanced to enable it to rebuff the freezing temperatures and then puts on its leaves and flowers.

Mrs. Reese reminded the group of the annual Spring Flower show to be held in Wesley Center May 15. Registration will begin at 8 a.m. and the competition is open to all amateurs of the community.

Mrs. Gaskins served refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Randall Reed, Mrs. Willie Pankey, and Mrs. Cozie Gaskins.

FOR SAFER DRIVING

SPRINGFIELD—Governor William G. Stratton, left, and Director E. A. Rosenstone of the Department of Public Works and Buildings are shown displaying a new sign designed by the state Division of Highways and cautioning motorists to be alert for slippery bridge floors along Illinois highways.

A total of 500 of the signs have been placed along the state's network of highways in line with Governor Stratton's continuing traffic safety program.

A study of accidents on bridges in Illinois has shown a tendency for motorists to drive too fast for conditions. Ten per cent of all rural accidents on slippery pavements were caused by driving too fast but at bridges 19 per cent, or nearly twice as many, were due to this cause.

The accident rate is closely associated with frost, rain, snow and ice which make it difficult for motorists to judge a safe speed on bridges.

Traffic experts claim that any time there is frost, the bridge floors are bound to be slippery. So are the spaces above culverts and drain pipes under highways. They say the reason is that air currents underneath the pavement cause the frost to stay on these places an hour or two after the sun or traffic removes it from the highway.

STEEL FRAMEWORK of Southern Illinois University's Home Economics Building Group, now under construction, attracts the attention of students visiting SIU during annual High School Home Economics Day April 12. The three-story, $2,000,000 structure will be ready for partial occupancy by the fall of 1959. Among the nearly 1,300 visitors from 64 high schools were, from left, Mary Jane Guard and Brenda Stallings, Harrisburg, and Susie Bishop, Du Quoin. (SIU Photo Service)

Believe Rock
Slab Is Door to Spanish Treasure

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Eugenio Gaytan, 77, and his sons today attacked the rock slab believed to be plugging the entrance to a large Spanish treasure under their frame house.

Using a borrowed pneumatic hammer, they deepened the cavern under a bedroom in Gaytan's five room house to nearly 26 feet Thursday and uncovered rock markings said to be a "cross" and a "face of Christ."

Miguel Rodriguez, a 58-year-old amateur treasure hunter from Del Rio, Tex., said the two rocks they drilled through Thursday were "false doors" two-and-a-half or three feet thick.

He said the rock they hoped to shatter today was the real door which would lead to a staircase and tunnel where they would find gold buried by an aide of the explorer Hernando de Soto in 1541.

Rodriguez, who says he studied archeology at the University of Chihuahua in Mexico, has directed the diggers by symbols which he claimed to have deciphered from rocks.

A Dallas amateur treasure hunter, W. J. Padgett, moved an electronic metal-detecting gadget, called a detectron, around the back yard Thursday night. It registered a strong reaction near the northeast corner of the house, said Padgett.

by ED LACY

SHE was staring at me with cool eyes. I could see Mrs. Owens mentioning Ed had said something about getting that place in California soon and Susan Owens going to work like a ferret. This fitted in with Wales hunting around the abandoned garage for dough... except that was 10 years ago and this account was less than 10 weeks old. I asked, "Where's the other bankbooks?" "Look, look, Pa rarely had one buck to rub against another. That I know. And I looked carefully under everything. This is all I found," Susan said.

"I know you did, Mrs. Owens, you told me your husband said he might be able to get a farm in California soon. Are you positive he didn't have any money hidden away?"

"Do we look like rich people?" the old lady asked, her eyes beginning to water.

"Looks don't mean a thing, Dio Ed at any time in the last dozen years talk about striking big money?"

"No, Never!" The tears came. "What are you doing to Ma?" Susan barked.

While she was drying her face with her apron I stared at Susan, who gave it right back to me, eye-to-eye stuff. I asked, "What do you want me to do? Don't expect me to go on the hook, this is evidence and I won't—"

"We're playing it straight with you, Mr. Wintino," Susan cut in. "You were one of the detectives on the case—but Ma felt that since you're new and not boiled in oil like some of the old-timers, you'd understand what four grand means to a cop's widow scrimping along on a lousy pension." "Sure I understand. But I'm not going to hang myself. I have to turn this in."

"Nobody is asking you not to; if you have to turn the money in, you have to. Suppose we hold on to it till tomorrow? I have a list of the bill numbers. You take the bankbook, see what you can find out. For all we know maybe one of Pa's nags finally came in. We're not leaving town—if we didn't want to play it straight we could have kept mum about all this. If by tomorrow afternoon you feel this has something to do with the case, we'll hand it over. If you ask for it now, we'll get tough too, force you to get a court order. There, that gives you an out."

I grinned at her with admiration—she was real smart. "I'll play along till tomorrow afternoon. But I want a list of the bills, the bankbooks, and a sample of your father's writing, his signature if you have it handy. I'll have to call the precinct, tell them something. If my lieutenant is there, you're out of luck. If not, I called and covered myself—sort of. You'll have to take that gamble."

"If you want it that way, I'll tell anybody about a court order."

MRS. OWENS turned her moon puss toward the ceiling in thought. "Yes, I do. Because I once had to take Dora over to Park Avenue for X-ray treatments when Al was stuck on a case. It was Seventy-ninth and Park and I remember because it was the first time I was ever in that rich section, and the doctor, he had the same name as the ballplayer, Di Maggio."

I took the envelope, sealed it, and wrote across the flap, "Keep this shut and don't finger the money, might still raise prints on the bills." I gave it back to Susan. "I'm not kidding, don't

Dear Friends:

This is my letter of thanks to you.

I appreciate the splendid vote you gave me in the Primary Election on April 8th.

In November 1954 you elected me to an office of honor, trust and responsibility. I have tried hard to administer the duties of the office in a manner to reflect credit on our schools.

It has been a pleasure working with the parents, teachers and administrative staffs throughout the county.

I shall make a vigorous campaign for re-election.

Mr. John R. Murphy, Assistant Superintendent, and Miss Alexander, office secretary, join me in again saying, thank you.

Sincerely,

Sales Tax Collections Beginning To Show Downward Trend in Illinois

SPRINGFIELD (P)—Illinois sales tax collections in February, 1957, and down to tax collections are beginning to drop, apparently in reflection of the recession state Revenue Department figures showed today.

But despite the general downturn, collections in a few cities—notably Champaign-Urbana, Springfield, Chicago and Rock Island—still were on the increase in the latest figures available.

Heading the list of cities where sales tax collections have dropped were Peoria, which has been affected by lay-offs at Caterpillar Tractor Co., and Rockford and Decatur, both industrial communities.

The Revenue Department records showed sales tax collections for March totaled $20,853,315, compared with $21,279,663 in March of last year—a drop of $426,348.

Based on January Sales

In February, the sales tax collections totaled $22,552,265, compared with $22,636,247 in February, 1957—a drop of $83,982.

February also is the latest month for which the Revenue Department has sales tax collections broken down by cities and counties. The February collections would be based on January sales.

For February, Rock Island showed one of the largest increases in sales tax collections, from $100,560 in 1957 to $114,939 in February this year.

In other comparisons of February, 1957, and February of this year, Champaign was up from $127,006 to $129,173; Urbana from $45,087 to $47,556; and Springfield from $309,750 to $311,606.

Chicago collections edged up from $10,117,615 in February, 1957, to $10,128,797 this year.

Wheaton showed an increase from $43,118 to $47,253. Other cities showing an increase were Charleston, from $25,174 to $25,849; Mount Vernon, from $52,300 to $54,929; Cairo, from $24,904 to $25,700; and Beardstown, from $14,253 to $16,036.

Several Comparisons Listed

Among the cities with decreases, collections at Peoria were $408,804 in February, 1957, and down to $358,166 in February, this year. Collections at Rockford were off from $466,416 in February, 1957, to $410,674 in the same month this year. At Decatur the drop was from $273,529 to $254,101.

Other cities where sales tax collections were lower this past February than in February, 1957, included Paris, Kankakee, Galesburg, Bloomington, Belleville, Peoria, Marion, Quincy, De Kalb, Pontiac, Litchfield, Du Quoin, Harrisburg, and Danville.

The comparative 1958 and 1957 figures for these cities with the higher 1957 figure listed first were:

Paris $31,189 and $30,520; Kankakee $114,448 and $106,797; Galesburg $101,186 and $99,056; Bloomington $119,615 and $118,778; Belleville $106,849 and $104,245; Pekin $65,228 and $64,061; Marion $54,823 and $50,560; Quincy $109,913 and $108,404; De Kalb $50,384 and $46,164; Pontiac $33,549 and $26,630; Litchfield $21,890 and $18,467; Du Quoin $17,468 and $16,671; Harrisburg $28,150 and $26,368; Danville $134,484 and $129,551.

Homemaking Girls Present Style Show for Woman's Club Meeting at High School

The Homemaking girls of the Carrier Mills high school, under the direction of Mrs. Harold James, the homemaking teacher, presented a style show following the regular monthly meeting of the Woman's club Monday, April 14, at the high school.

The theme of the show was "One Week end in April," and was narrated by Beverly Parks. Elaine Starkey opened the show by singing "April Love," and music was supplied by Katherine Mathews.

Girls from Homemaking I and II modeled garments which they had made under the class room supervision as well as others which were made as home projects. The different groups were:

"End of School Week," Barbara Horton, Barbara Blackman, Rose Mae Martin and Carolyn Garner; "The Senior Play," Bobbie Akin, who was the usher, Judy Beal, Vickie Shepard and Teresa Cofield;

"Saturday Morning Bake Sale," Darla Norman, Alyson Duncan and Lula Cole;

"Saturday Night Date," Rita Richerson, Shirley Dowdy, Mildred Blackman and Lucille Keith;

"Church," Edna Hanold, Billie Ryan, Linda Blackman and Kay Flynn;

"Sunday Afternoon Tea," Ryolla Evans, Sandra Allen and Edna Williams.

Lorela Taylor and Rita Richerson closed the students' part of the program with a duet, "Sugar-time," and Mrs. James gave an illustrated talk on "Color, and Its Use in the Home." The ladies were then invited to the home-making room for refreshments.

The table was covered with a deep dark green cloth, set with crystal and silver, white candles and a lovely center piece of white and pink to carry out the spring theme. The table cloth and hostess sets were placed in the department through the efforts of F. H. A. They are also adding this year a five piece silver tea and coffee service.

The F. H. A. officers served the refreshments of 4 fluffy, pink tint of meringue ring filled with vanilla ice cream, and topped with a chocolate marshmallow dip. The F. H. A. president, Beverly Parks, and the F. H. A. vice president, Rosemary Warren, poured at the Holly.

Students at U. I. Face Discipline For Spring Romp

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI)—A group of 30 or 40 students faced possible disciplinary action today for their part in an exuberant springtime romp over the University Illinois campus.

School officials, said Joe Blaze, university security officer, took a dim view of Thursday night's hijinks in which an estimated 5,000 students engaged in giant water fights, ripped up street signs and threatened to invade sorority houses on panty raids.

Damage was relatively light in the five-hour eruption, but Blaze said 30 or 40 students may face disciplinary action for acts "approaching vandalism."

Blaze himself was doused several times when he tried to halt the rampaging students on Wright Street, main street of the campus.

The springtime outburst started in a water fight between two fraternities, then grew like bud flowers until, within three hours, a 5,000-strong army of students, armed with water buckets and water-filled paper bags stormed through the campus.

The students broke open about 15 water hydrants, uprooted street signs and toppled trash cans. Several groups threatened panty raids, but police said they did not carry them out.

Spring also busted out on the University of Wisconsin campus at Madison, where 57 students were arrested for creating a disturbance by throwing water, bricks, eggs and firecrackers Thursday night. It was the second night in a row that Wisconsin students got out of hand.

Students at Indiana University in Bloomington observed the onset of warm weather with water and egg fights. The battles brought city police and firemen to the campus along with Dean of Students Robert E. Shaffer before order was restored.

—20 million dollars in treasury loans, divided between cities and rural areas, for industrial development projects.

—10 million dollars in treasury loans and 75 million dollars in federal grants for public industrial development, such as provision of areas for new factories, waterfront and other facilities.

"You don't see the stray dogs running through the city like you used to," the chief said. "I'd venture to say that ninety-nine percent of dogs running loose have owners, and the animals are the responsibility of these owners."

Mrs. Turner, society president, stated:

"The animals themselves are really not our problem. Our problem has been with the uncooperative dog owner who will not go along with what the society is attempting to do to alleviate the stray and unwanted dog situation and to combat cruelty by a segment of the public."

Female Employees in Shawnee Forest Office Take Field Trip

Female employees in the Shawnee National Forest headquarters office yesterday took a field trip into the Forest to see what goes on.

Larry P. Neff, supervisor, said the girls had been doing paper work in the office and he thought it would be good for them if they saw the actual work in progress.

Mr. Neff said they would see tree planting, the effects of forest fires, timber sales and recreational areas all in the Vienna district of the Forest.

Making the trip were Dorothy Baldwin, Iona Shaw, Helen Varnas, Vera Vaughn and Ruth Ann Wynn. Their guide was Jerry Kladiwa.

The striking fact is that all this is taking place at the time when a summit conference is being arranged to ease international tension and lessen the danger of a rocket atomic war," Gromyko said.

"Meanwhile, the actions of the United States, one of the great powers bearing major responsibility for maintaining international peace, go in a diametrically opposed direction."

In his dispatch, Bartholomew reported a hypothetical flight—as pictured by a Strategic Air Command colonel—of a bomber which took off after objects had been picked up on a radar scope.

The colonel pointed out that in event the report of enemy action was false the bomber pilot is prevented from making an attack by a plan called "fail safe" which is proof against error, human or mechanical."

"Fail safe," a term borrowed from the engineers, simply instructs you to proceed toward your target for a fixed number of nautical miles and then turn back—"fail safe"—if for any reason you do not at that point and at that moment receive coded orders to continue to your target," Bartholomew reported.

"This actually has happened," his dispatch continued. "Not once, not twice, but many times. The great counter-offensive striking force of the Strategic Air Command has been sped on its way by alerts created by meteoric flights registering on the downline

Flies Jet to Fringe of Space

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Lt. Cmdr. George C. Watkins, 37, Pasadena, Calif., who flew to the fringe of space at 76,828 feet in a Grumman Super Tiger jet, said today he plans to go right back up again "within a day or two" at Edwards Air Force Base on the Mojave Desert.

"Under the right conditions," Watkins said, "the Super Tiger could well go beyond 80,000 feet. That's what we expected in the first place."

Watkins told newsmen at El Centro, Calif., Thursday that his record-smashing flight on Wednesday was a "brief invasion of space" in a convention aircraft.

He admitted he had experienced "a peculiar weightlessness" in escaping momentarily from gravity as he put the Tiger Jet practically straight up like a missile.

"It was an eerie feeling," he admitted.

Bertis Herrmann Heads Eldorado Grade School Board

Bertis Herrmann is the new president of the Board of Education of the Eldorado Elementary School district.

Organization of the board was completed at a meeting Thursday night. Franklin Gray was re-elected secretary and Carl Snyder re-appointed treasurer.

Herrmann was high man in last Saturday's election to elect six members of the board. Other new members are Gene Galenier, Max Haring, Howard Stearns and Arch Baker and Mr. Gray was re-elected. Gratton Hill is the holdover member.

Herrmann stated today that Thursday night the new board explored the school situation at length, but no definite action was taken as the members desired more time to become familiar with the workings of the school system.

The board did instruct Ralph Slow, superintendent of the system, to prepare the budget for the coming year and have it ready for the May meeting.

Harshman Blanks Senators in Relief Role; Cubs Beat Cards to Top League

Unbeaten Orioles Slip Into First Place In American L.

By United Press

Everyone thought Paul Richards slipped his clutch when he dealt for a pitcher with a slipped disc, but that same pitcher—southpaw Jack Harshman—enabled the Baltimore Orioles to slip quietly into first place in the American League today.

Harshman, whose back was such a question mark that he didn't sign a formal Baltimore contract until last week, vindicated Richards' judgment Thursday night with a nifty relief performance that earned him the victory in a 4-0 triumph over the Washington Senators.

Wearing a special corset for support, Harshman came to the rescue of rookie Milt Pappas in the fourth inning with two men on and one out. He limited Washington to one single the rest of the way to gain his first win for the Orioles since they obtained him from the White Sox last Dec. 2.

Home runs by Gus Triandos and

Brooks Robinson helped the Orioles to their second straight victory which left them the only unbeaten team in the league.

Yanks, White Sox Win

The Yankees defeated the Red Sox, 3-1; the White Sox edged the Tigers, 4-3, and the Indians edged the Athletics, 3-2.

The lightly-regarded Cubs bounded to the top of the National league standings with a 4-3 victory over the Cardinals; the Giants beat the Dodgers, 7-4, and the Braves defeated the Pirates, 6-1, in the only other games scheduled.

Johnny Kucks of the Yanks held the Red Sox to seven hits and blanked them until the ninth when Jackie Jensen unloaded his third of the season. Pete Runnels collected four of Boston's other hits.

Second Victory

Dale Long's sacrifice fly, following singles by Walt Moryn and Bobby Thomson in the eighth inning, scored the run that gave the Cubs their second victory in a row over the Cards. Chicago manager Bob Scheffing used three pitchers, starter Glenn Hobbie winding up with the victory. John Goryl homered off loser Lindy McDaniel. Stan Musial had a Homer and a single, thereby breaking Mel Ott's National League record for total bases. Musial's two hits increased his total bases to 5,046. Ott's record was 5,041.

Rookie third baseman Jim Davenport rapped out four hits in the Giants' triumph over Don Newcombe of the Dodgers. Newcombe, charged with San Francisco's first five runs, left the game in the fourth because of a pulled muscle in his back. Southpaw Johnny Antonelli started for the Giants but the victory went to Curt Barclay, who relieved him in the fourth. Gino Cimoli homered for the Dodgers while Bob Schmidt connected for the Giants. The game drew only 12,500 fans at Seals Stadium compared with the crowds of better than 20,000 which witnessed the first two encounters.

Eddie Mathews continued his spectacular slugging for the Braves, driving in five of their runs against the Pirates with his third and fourth homers of the year. Lew Burdette, meanwhile, held the Pirates to seven hits in chalking up his first victory.

SOURCE OF SUPPLY?—Manager Al Lopez looks for some sorely needed Chicago White Sox hitting from newly acquired Outfielder Don Mueller, left. Ex-Giant was magician with bat.

Ed Mathews IN THE Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (AP) — There are three guys named Ed Mathews and the one with the bat is making enough noise in the infant National League pennant race today for all three.

The other two are Ed Mathews as he is seen by friend and foe. The first is billed as a quiet, modest, all-American boy type while the second is a truculent, reticent man who lives in a mute, defiant world.

But you can't fault Ed Mathews, ball player, at this stage of the game.

The Milwaukee Braves, for whom he performs, as of today have played two games.

Mathews is hitting .400 with four home runs in the two games. For the benefit of the breathless figure philiberts, this puts him 12 games ahead of Babe Ruth's record 60 pace in 1927. Without facetious inference, it can be said with utter seriousness that his seven runs batted in for the two games is a helluva start in this department.

Always a Threat

His home run prowess cannot be detailed as a surprise. Any time he steps to the plate — as the New York Yankees, among others, will tell you — he is a threat to cannon the ball out of the confines of the park. He was, if you remember, the NL home run champion in his sophomore year of 1953 with a fat total of 47.

Since then he has been a steady, competent player who never attained the heights which were predicted. His greatest splash was in the late World Series against the Yankees.

Mathews won the fourth game with a two-run homer in the 10th inning; scored the winning run in the fifth game and added a brilliant fielding play, and batted and fielded with clutch finesse in the runaway finale.

During the winter, in one of his infrequent and brief recitals to the press, he allowed that the fielding contributions gave him the most personal satisfaction. This spring, when approached, he estimated that the World Series triumph had given the Braves new confidence but warned "We can't live on our press clippings."

Sets Goals

He also set very modest goals for himself, anticipating 30 home runs, a mark he never has failed to achieve; more than 100 runs batted in, a mark which has eluded him but barely the past two years, and a .300 batting average which he menaces annually.

Young Mr. Mathews is off to a flying start and this corner, for one, wishes him nothing but the best.

There is a personal antipathy here toward his reactions to photographers. He threatened to break one's arm if his picture was snapped in a post-curfew court session for speeding in 1954. And he voiced wishful expulsion to another even on his wedding day.

Carrier Mills High School Nine to Open Play Against Equality

Coach A. L. Willis has announced the opening game for the Carrier Mills high school baseball team next Monday, with Equality the visitors.

Tuesday Eldorado makes a call to Carrier Mills and a busy week will be completed when the Wildcats travel to Galatia Friday.

Coach Willis states he has a majority of last year's team returning, but lost his starting battery—Dale Collins catcher and Jack Cowger pitcher—by graduation.

The handsome pink flamingo spends hours preening and priming. Its beauty calls to mind the feathered birds and plumed hats of the late 19th century. Flamingos, however, were generally spared by the plume hunters because their color fades rapidly after death.
